Must Visit Places In Shanghai

Shanghai is one of the largest cities of china which never ceases to amaze you with its spectacular sights and glimpse. This city offers up slices of life that stun at a mere glance. There is always something to see, do and talk about shanghai. Simply all you have to do is exit your home and you are entertained. Here we are going to share some incredible places to hangout in shanghai.

The Bund

The bund is one of the must visit place when you enter this city. Both sides of the river give you a breathtaking view. One side amaze you with array of its old European architecture and the other one impress you with its stunning skylines. The best time to visit the place is before sunset so that you can capture some clicks before the skyscrapers light up in different colors. But whatever time you select to visit keep it in mind that some other tourists also want that perfect picture instant too so there may be some mass of people . ADDRESS: Zhongshan East 1st Rd, WaiTan, Huangpu District, Shanghai, China

Jingan Temple

For an outright jaunt don't forget to visit the Jing'an temple in shanghai. All along the daytime, this spot feels dignified and spiritual. At night it takes on a garnish, Vegas glow, that while beautiful, doesn't impart the same soul stirring vibe. This place is perfect metaphor of what Buddha taught us about Balance. During the day, a pious sanctuary and at night a glowstick lit theme park. ADDRESS: 1686 Nanjing W Rd, JingAnSi, Jingan Qu, Shanghai Shi, China, 200000

China Art Museum

We know that everyone does not have an interest in art. But even then, we suggest you to visit this place because of its unique architecture. And definitely the Art lovers are going to be the huge fan of this place. The building looks like a giant upside-down pyramid with the floors about 6 stories above the open space. Entry is free and you do not need to book. Amazing place, not to be missed. ADDRESS: 205 Shangnan Rd, Pudong Xinqu, Shanghai Shi, China, 200126

YUYUAN GARDEN

YUYUAN Garden is basically a true depiction of ancient Chinese culture with some of its panoramic areas i.e. Sansui Hall, Wanhua Chamber, Dianchun Hall, Huijing Hall, Yuhua Hall and the Inner Garden. Each of them have spectacular site in its boundary. If you could not visit Suzhou which is know for its gardens then this is the best alternative you could have. ADDRESS: 218 Anren St, Huangpu Qu, Shanghai Shi, China, 200000

Nanjing Road Pedestrian Street

A must visit shopping dynasty of Shanghai where you can find all the brands of the world. But keep it in mind that this place is the busiest shopping street in the world too where million people walk up and down the crowded pavement during the day. So, beware of pettifoggers and pickpockets. You can also buy ticket for the little train that costs you only 5rmb and relish the street, take photos without walking.
